РАЗДЕЛ 2

WELKOME TO THE FARM!

ДОБРО ПОЖАЛОВАТЬ НА ФЕРМУ

-Hello, it's me again. Carol and I are in Irkutsk now. I am going to take Carol to my friend's place. My friend's name is Igor Borisov. He is a cattle-breeder. He runs a family. His family is large. He has a wife, two sons and a daughter. His elderly father lives with them too.

- Carol, would you like to join me? I'm going to visit my friends. How about going together?

- That's a good idea.

TEXT A

We are at the farm now. This is the family farm of Igor Borisov, a cattle-breeder from Irkutsk. Our host is now showing his house to us. This is a typical country house. There are six rooms in his house: four bedrooms, a sitting room and a dining room. The Borisovs are in the dining room. They are waiting for us to have tea. We are having tea with them and then are going to the garden, where he will tell us about his farm. His wife is a house-keeper. She shows her house. There are two floors, a large cellar and a wide attic. There is also a study for her husband.

We paid attention to a kitchen. Mrs. Borisova has everything that a woman needs for cooking. Here it is: a fridge, a cupboard, a dishwasher, a washer, a stove, and even a microwave oven. There is a scale, electric mixer, and toaster. Besides Mrs. Borisov works hard on the farm. She is responsible for cooking and poultry. There are many ducks and turkeys in the large poultry-yard. There are hens in the hen-house. Their geese are fat and well-fed. Their daughter is heading them to the meadow now. She is a great help to her mother. She looks after the chickens and ducklings. She is like a nanny to them.

There are stables on the farm. Igor Borisov has a large library on agriculture, farming, poultry farming and gardening. He likes to read these kinds of books. He likes coming to his room, switching on the table lamp sitting down and reading his favorite books or articles in the latest issues of "Agriculture Magazine".

Remember

Запомнить!

Выражение to be going to переводится как «собираться, намереваться» (делать что-то) e.g. He is going to show his farm to us. Он собирается показать нам свою ферму. I am going home. Я собираюсь (идти) домой.

Намерение делать что-либо в ближайшем будущем может быть передано данной грамматической конструкцией и с другими глаголами, например: e.g. I am leaving Moscow tomorrow morning. Я уезжаю из Москвы завтра утром.
